Council backs residents, denies industrial uses

By Lynne Locke

Upland City Council has supported residents against a Planning Commission recommendation that 27 acres in southwest Upland be designated for light industrial uses.

The Planning Commission had recommended the industrial designation in May and reaffirmed the recommendation in July noting the problems of mixing residential and industrial land uses.

The council decision Aug. 15 to deny the industrial recommendation leaves the general plan designation as elementary school, park, flood control, and multiple - family uses for the area which is southwest of Arrow Highway and Benson Avenue.

In denying the industrial designation the majority of the council questioned the need for any change in the area's general plan designations.

The city staff and the Planning Commission had recommended the light industrial designation to match existing industrial uses in the area.

Mixing existing industrial and future residential uses "would be detrimental to the living environment of residents ... and incompatible with general commerce operations," according to the Planning Commission recommendation.

Planning Director Bill Young told the council that the best planning for the area would include the entire area from Benson Avenue to Central Avenue, but he noted the western portion of the area already has too many homes for comprehensive planning.

At the first council hearing on the general plan amendment, several adjacent residents had opposed the industrial designation as an encroachment on their residential neighborhood of single - family homes.

Young said industrial uses would actually provide better buffering for the homes than the multiple - family development because industrial developments are required to have greater setbacks with increased landscaping.

Developer Lee Sobel had also opposed the industrial designation because it would prohibit his planned construction of town houses on four acres southwest of Benson Avenue and Arrow Highway.

The council, at that time, questioned the likelihood that Sobel would be able to market expensive townhomes on a major street and adjacent to railroad tracks.

The council also expressed concerns about the effect of multiple - family development on local sewage treatment problems.

City Engineer Fred Blanchard told the council that multiple - family dwellings have a heavy impact on sewer facilities and noted the difficulty of obtaining sewer allocations for multiple - family developments.

The council vote to retain the present residential zoning for the area was 4-1, with Mayor George Gibson supporting the industrial designation.

In making his decision Gibson noted a statement by A. T. Bryant that property owners would rather have light industrial zoning than a mixture of industrial and residential.

The council decision affirming the present residential designation will provide the development pattern for the area, Young said later, adding that the planning staff will work to ensure that future zoning and development are consistent with the general plan designations.

General plan designations for the area will be studied again only if requested by a property owner, he said and commented, "There would have to be a lot of hard evidence to bring it up again."

In other action at the Aug. 15 meeting the council:

— Awarded United States Pipe and Foundry Co. of Riverside a $5,194 contract to provide eight - inch diameter water pipe.

— Accepted the resignation of Daniel Martinez from the Upland Housing Authority Commission. Martinez is moving from the city.

— Approved an allocation of $2,100 from the Police Department improvement budget to replace the present air conditioning unit which was installed before 1963. The three - ton heat - pump unit will be replaced with a new four - ton air conditioner.

— Asked for clarification on a bid for remodeling of the senior citizen community center on Third Avenue and C Street. The one bid received from Earle Casler Construction Co. was approximately 41 per cent higher than the architect's estimate of $81,000. The council was scheduled to consider the bid at a special meeting Wednesday, Aug. 24.

Subjects range from loneliness to divorce adjustment

Self-awareness classes offered at Chaffey

By Lynne Locke

A special series of Chaffey College classes deals with problems ranging from loneliness to adjusting to divorce.

The 20 self - awareness classes are offered by the guidance department in response to the needs and desires of the college community, according to Martin Gerstein, dean of counseling.

The program started several years ago for students who were feeling lonely, facing problems getting along with their parents, and learning to be independent.

The self - awareness classes have expanded to meet different needs, Gerstein said noting that many Chaffey students are older than the stereotyped college student.

Many students today are married and have children. Others are divorced and may be raising children alone. Still others are older students returning to college after raising a family or having a career.

Among the more popular self - awareness classes is assertion training which teaches people to stand up for themselves rather than being pushed around by family members, friends, and people in the business world.

Gerstein said class members have activities in class to practice being assertive and may have simple assignments during the week as they learn how to be assertive.

Women's Center Director Jeanne Hamilton teaches both the assertion class and a class on college and career opportunities for women, which is intended for women who are considering going to college, perhaps after raising families.

The class, which meets at the Ontario - Montclair Center, features a field trip to the Chaffey College campus to see the facilities and learn about college possibilities, including child care and financial aid.

Stresses involved in unusual situations or changes in life are considered in three classes: families in transition, exploring being single, and adjusting to divorce and separation.

Roberty Meyer teaches the families in transition class which includes both expected changes such as the birth of children and unexpected transitions such as separation or divorce.

The class explores the aspects of stress and health of people changing from the family - centered life to the empty - nest situation, or of being single parents, or gaining a stepchild.

The singlehood class is becoming more popular, according to Gerstein who said the class includes a mix of people who have never been married and people who are divorced or widowed.

The common factor for all the class members is concern about living a single life. Class sessions deal with problems and situations class members are facing in their lives.

Sexuality is the focus of two classes: understanding sexual conflict and adult sexual issues. Both classes are for people "who have some sexual concerns and want to deal with them in a group" Gerstein said.

Sexuality classes are "very much in demand" because people are becoming more open about their sexual problems, he said and noted that the classes are handled "in a very delicate way" by well - trained professionals.

Students who are interested in biofeedback and other new physiological techniques can take a course titled "biofeedback and self - control" which includes working with various instruments and machines.

"Values and goals for adults" is a class particularly for people who are changing values or careers in midlife.

Gerstein said the guidance department still offers the basic self - awareness class for lonely students who are learning to be independent adults.

Such general classes fall under the titles of developing relationships interpersonal communication, and characteristics of relationships.

All of the self - awareness classes are planned for the individual student's personal growth and development, according to Gerstein who said that the classes may also help students learn better, work more effectively, and deal better with their own needs.

Most classes are taught by trained counselors who have master's degrees in counseling. Some are taught by local psychologists.

Gerstein himself screens the class offerings and then sits in on classes to ensure "quality instruction."

All self - awareness classes are non-graded, and students are limited to six units (two or three classes) for credit.

Classes are offered in both the daytime and the evening with a few offered as weekend workshops. All of the classes are small, averaging 12-15 members.

College registration is set Aug. 31-Sept. 1 and Sept. 6-7. For information call 987-1737.

GIVE YOUR APPLIANCES THE AFTERNOON OFF.

Most of the electricity we generate is needed by factories, farms and offices — so people can make a living. The greatest demand for this electricity is during the day. You need electricity to run appliances in your home, too. And the greatest demand for this electricity is also during the day.

Here's the problem: Because of the growing demand for electricity during the day, we'll have to build more power plants. And building power plants today is more expensive. That drives up the cost of electricity to everybody.

Now there's something we all can do to help: Spread the use of electricity more evenly around the clock. Edison is working with large industrial customers to help them find ways to shift some of their electric use to the evening hours. But most people prefer to work during the day, so there's only so much industry can do without drastic rescheduling of work shifts.

It's afternoon use of electricity that's the biggest problem. So you can help by doing some of your daily routine at night or in the morning. Perhaps you can wash and dry your clothes at night. Use your dishwasher at night. Iron in the evening. Bake in the morning.

It means changing your routine a bit. But if we do use electricity wisely, it will help to hold down the cost in the future.

Senate oks bill to guard Foothill Freeway route

The Senate passed a bill Tuesday to protect the right-of-way of the proposed Foothill Freeway extension by granting "high priority" to state acquisition of land endangered by development along the western part of the route.

A weaker version of the bill (AB469) was previously approved by the Assembly, where the legislation will return for concurrence before being sent to Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

Under the Senate version, which passed 24-0, the legislation would direct the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) and the California Highway Commission to grant "high priority" for acquisition of land within the freeway corridor from near San Dimas to the Devore Freeway, particularly "in hardship or protective cases."

The stretch represents 17 of the 28.3 miles in the proposed route.

The Assembly-passed bill limited land purchases to cases "subject to hardship."

Ed Connelly, administrative assistant to Assemblyman Bill Lancaster, R - Covina, said this morning the next Assembly vote will wait until proponents have had time to make their case first to Brown.

Lancaster is the chief sponsor of AB 469, and Connelly said the assemblyman will decide when the bill comes up for vote in the Assembly.

Tony Malone, executive vice president of the Upland Chamber of Commerce and administrator of the Foothill Freeway Association, said Tuesday that "we plan to do everything within our power" to convince Brown to sign the legislation.

Connelly said he did not know yet if the bill would be voted on in the Assembly before Sept. 15, when the highway commission is widely expected to hear a recommendation by Caltrans to drop the freeway extension from the state's master plan of highways.

Despite unanimous votes in both houses, Connelly said "it's hard to say" whether enough support could be marshaled to override a veto.

In another development, the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors passed a resolution Tuesday urging a change in state law to limit the amount of money bankrolled in the state highway account.

Supervisor Robert Townsend of Chino said the action by the board encourages the state legislature to limit the accumulation to $75 million.

Townsend, who proposed the unanimously adopted resolution, said money in excess of $75 million would be returned monthly to cities and counties under existing distribution formulas.

He said the account currently contains more than $360 million, according to figures supplied by Sen. Robert B. Presley, D - Riverside, chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee.

Much of the money raised as gas tax revenues draws 4 to 5 per cent interest "sitting around" instead of being used on state highway projects, according to Townsend.

He added that local governments could use any funds returned on highway projects, such as buying land to protect the right-of-way for the proposed Foothill Freeway extension.

DEBUTANTES — The first Coronet Debutantes from this area in more than 10 years, Kristyn Scott of Claremont (left) and Maylene Missakian of Upland, will be presented Nov. 26 at the 29th annual Coronet Debutante Ball of the National Charity League Los Angeles Chapter. The festivities will be held in the International Ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Beverly Hills.

Utility assessments reach record levels

The value of privately owned public utilities and the assessments on which property taxes are based have reached record levels in San Bernardino County.

Assessments of utility property, which are conducted by the state Board of Equalization, rose by 15.5 per cent in San Bernardino County over the past year, from $294.5 million to $340.1 million.

This is slightly below the statewide increase of 15.9 per cent, from $5.6 billion to $6.5 billion, for the property of 173 utility companies in California.

That is the highest one-year increase statewide, and the Board of Equalization adopted those assessments Aug. 4.

However, in terms of dollars, San Bernardino County ranked third in increased assessments on utility property. The county's increase of $45.6 million was exceeded only by Los Angeles County ($192.7 million) and San Diego County ($105.3 million).

Assessments on utility property will be added to those on all other kinds of property — residential, commercial and industrial — to make up the county's tax rolls. The assessments on all other kinds of property countywide rose by 18.5 per cent, also the highest in the county's history.

Those assessments were conducted by the office of Assessor Robert J. Herbin.

Tax rates will be set by the county, cities, schools and other special districts after these assessment rolls are completed.

Committee meeting set

A committee responsible for supervising expenditures of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funds allocated to the West End will conduct a public meeting on tonight.

The Area VII Committee of the Inland Manpower Association will meet 7 p.m. Tonight at the West End Multi Service Center, 300 W. B St., Ontario.

Endangered plants topic

Public meetings will be held for discussion of the preliminary report on the survey of potentially endangered and threatened plants in the Imperial Sand Dunes complex, Gerald E. Hillier, Riverside BLM District Manager has announced.

One meeting will be held on Aug. 25 at Santa Ana College at Phillips Hall, 17th and Bristol in Santa Ana. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The potentially endangered and threatened plants in the Imperial Sand Dunes complex pose a possible conflict with recreational use. One area in the Imperial Sand Dunes is designated an Outstanding Natural Area. Within the area is a National Natural Landmark.

Chaffey children's center

Structure will stir imagination

It could be a grand staircase ... a bridge that spans a jungle river ... a rocket to the moon.

Or it could be none of those things.

It is an elaborate piece of play equipment to be constructed for the playground at the children's center on the Chaffey College campus in Alta Loma.

The 15 to 20 foot long and up to 10 foot high structure is described as having been "designed to be different for the sake of being different."

Youngsters will climb aboard by means of wooden stairs that meander haphazardly upward.

That is said to be one way the structure will encourage children to learn to take risks since the haphazard pattern creates a feeling of uncertainty.

A rope-handrailed bridge will further encourage risk-taking since it will wobble as youngsters cross it.

A second goal of the design based on suggestions by center coordinator Patricia Mohr is to fill children's needs for privacy space.

That is the need of children "to feel they are enclosed and yet looking out on something without being actively involved."

The structure fills that need by providing circular rope-enclosed elevated platforms from which children can observe the playground.

What is the structure supposed to represent?

"It lends itself to any phase of the child's imagination," said Sandra Hardie, assistant coordinator. "It could be a grand staircase, a rocket to the moon or something else."

She said the structure is designed for safety since youngsters will always be

The center staff and parents are hoping for donation of 4,000 feet of one and one-quarter inch thick nylon rope needed to complete the structure.

The center, a $225,000 stucco building on the north edge of the campus, provides care for children while their parents attend classes at Chaffey.

The center is staffed by child development specialists, early childhood development interns and parents.

Dizziness Is A Symptom Not To Be Treated "Light-Headedly"

By Dr. Wes Helzer, D.C.

A woman recently wrote, "What is dizziness? Every time I tell my husband I'm dizzy he wants me to describe it. I can't can you?" Dizziness has many meanings and the manifestations vary with the cause. I've heard the term used to describe feeling, light headedness, faintness, giddiness, weakness, hazy vision or confusion. Others are more articulate in their description. They say it's like "walking on a pit full of straw", or "going down an elevator", "uneasy" or "something in front of my eyes."

My best try at describing true vertigo is to say that sensation resembles the dizziness we develop as children when rolling downhill or turning around and around while in a standing position. The world turns about when the eyes are open, but when closed we would whirl about in space like an astronaut.

Dizziness is not an uncommon symptom, but the manner in which an individual experiences it is important to the diagnosis. For instance, the childish sensation described above is a type of vertigo that seems from a disturbance of the centers of equilibrium in the ears of brain.

A person with high blood pressure is more likely to complain of lightheadedness than of true vertigo.

You can help the Doctor by telling him when the dizziness occurs. An example is the "oldster who almost falls when he jumps out of bed or stands up too quickly." He could well have a circulatory problem.

Of course, the most meaningful thing about dizziness is that it is a symptom, and one that should not be ignored. Only recently I heard of a patient who complained of dizziness when he turned his head to the side or upwards. On examination, it was found that he was suffering from an arthritic spine. Needless to say, had it not been for this dizziness he would not have sought treatment for a very serious and often eventually crippling problem.

RODEO - Calf roping is one of several events scheduled for the RCA Rodeo Saturday and Sunday at the San Bernardino County Fair in Victorville.

Plummer signed to do 'Velvet'

In a further major casting move, Christopher Plummer has been signed to join Tatum O'Neal, Anthony Hopkins and Nanette Newman in MGM's "National Velvet."

Bryan Forbes will produce and direct this continuation of the studio's classic "National Velvet" from his own screenplay. Shooting will start in Devon, England, Sept. 1.

A Tony Award winner for his performance in the Broadway production of "Cyano," Toronto-born Plummer is one of today's most prestigious actors of stage, screen and television. He made his Broadway debut in 1954 in "The Constant Wife" and went on to win acclaim for his Shakespearean roles both in the United States and Stratford-on-Avon. In 1971 Sir Laurence Olivier invited Plummer to join the National Theatre Company of Great Britain.

Among his important motion pictures are "Sound of Music," "The Battle of Britain," "The Royal Hunt of the Sun," "Conduct Unbecoming," "Return of the Pink Panther," "Waterloo" and "The Man Who Would Be King."

Twice nominated for an Emmy award, he has been seen on television in "Oedipus Rex," "Omnibus," "After the Fall," and more recently, in the multipart presentation of "The Moneychangers."

Movie review

Feldman funny in 'Beau'

By Don Ham
Editor

Marty Feldman — the man with the big eyes — is funny in his latest movie, "The Last Remake of Beau Geste."

And with the presence of such stars as Ann-Margret, Michael York, Peter Ustinov and James Earl Jones, Feldman's type of humor — what he calls physical comedy — comes through in this spoof of the old foreign classic legion.

That's probably because he not only stars in the Universal Studios film, but he also co-wrote the story and screenplay and directed it.

Cook to act in 'Coma'

Robin Cook has been set to play a wheelchair patient in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Coma," now before the cameras with Michael Crichton directing.

Cook is author of the best-selling novel on which the film is based. The role marks his motion picture debut — all 30 seconds of it.

Genevieve Bujold, Michael Douglas, Elizabeth Ashley, Rip Torn and Richard Widmark star in "Coma," for which Crichton wrote the screenplay. Martin Erlichman produces.

The movie is full of all types of comedy, including old-time slapstick, rasty one-liners, and subtle humor, most of it coming at the expense of one of the main characters, Digby Geste, played by Feldman.

It even includes a beautiful piece of production work where Digby carries on a conversation with actor Gary Cooper in the old black-and-white version.

The plot, in a strange way, follows the plot of the old classic movie, Beau Geste, played by Michael York, has a twin, Digby. They are both adopted by Sir Hector Geste, Trevor Howard, because his wife and he had a daughter, Isabel, played by Sinead Cusack, instead of a son.

Beau and Digby are true friends throughout the movie despite the pathetic differences in their capabilities. Beau is the white knight in shining armor, adroit with sword, horses and love. Digby is bad at everything and always ends up with his face in the mud.

The arrival of sexy Lady Flavia, Ann-Margret, who becomes Sir Hector's wife, brings about the disappearance of the family jewel, the legendary Blue Water Sapphire. Lady Flavia wants to sell the jewel. Beau and Digby do not.

And, of course, Beau flees to the French Foreign Legion in Morocco, just like the old movie. But Digby assumes the blame for stealing the sapphire to save his brother, and ends up in prison. He escapes and all three, Digby, Beau and Lady Flavia, who wants the sapphire desperately, end up in Morocco together.

They all encounter, in one way or another, the rough, one-legged sergeant Markov, portrayed by Peter Ustinov. Markov has a remarkable collection of peg legs, including a small cannon, sword, and even one for formal occasions.

They all end up in a desert fortress. And the rest of the comedy involves the sapphire, a few duels, and a funny twist where the good guy (whoever that is), wins.

Each of the performers did a top job in the movie. This includes Ustinov, whose portrayal of Sergeant Markov is a bit overdone but funny, and York, who plays the hero straight man with class.

And Terry-Thomas, who plays the governor of Digby's prison, and Henry Gibson, as General Pecheur, the legion commander, are entertaining in their scenes with Lady Flavia. Both scenes take place in bed, as you might have guessed.

If you're a Marty Feldman fan, you won't want to miss this movie. But if you are upset easily by such things as foul language, naked rears, (specifically Henry Gibson's), and spicy humor, you might want to stay home.

LOOK-ALIKES — Michael McConkey, along with his big eyes, plays the 12-year-old Digby Geste and Marty Feldman is the older Digby in the Universal film, "The Last Remake of Beau Geste." The comedy also stars Ann-Margret, Michael York, Peter Ustinov and James Earl Jones.

'Hasty Heart' auditions set

The Gallery Theatre 46 p.m. Saturday will be auditioning for its next production, "The Hasty Heart," a heart warming comedy centered around an army hospital in the tropics during World War II.

The play, written by John Patrick, offers a number of challenging parts to actors, ages 19-50, many of them using dialects. One male black actor and one female actress between 19 and 30 are needed.

When first done on Broadway, the production starred Richard Basehart with the film version starring Richard Todd and Patricia Neal.

The Gallery Theatre is located at the corner of C Street and Lemon Avenue in Ontario. Currently playing at the Gallery is the musical comedy "Carousel." For reservations call (714) 982-5357.

Rich sunflower seeds

By Helen Eza
Seeds are the living force which carry on one generation after the other. Not only does the seed carry the nourishment for the new plant, but it provides the spark which makes it possible for the seed to germinate even after a dormant period.
The egg is a seed, as are the legumes like beans, lentils, peanuts, peas, soybeans and the grains such as wheat, corn and rice. The nut is also a seed and so are poppy, sesame, pumpkin, chia and the sunflower.

Only the sunflower seed has "the" place in the sun. The sunflower faces east at sunrise and faces west when the sun goes down.
The Indians cultivated this sunflower plant. They ate the seeds and also prepared meal from it. Hair oil made from sunflower oil and the flowerhead was used as a yellow dye. In Russia the sunflower is considered a delicacy by all.
There are many kinds of sunflower seeds. All sunflowers need is fertile soil, and they are no work to grow. They take up little room. Harvest time is when the birds start picking at the flowers.

Sunflower seeds are rich in vitamin A, the B-complex, vitamin E and minerals such as calcium iron, phosphorus, magnesium, manganese, copper, zinc as well as unsaturated fatty acids. In one-half cup of sunflower seeds there are 24 grams of protein.
You can see sunflower seeds are a prime source of almost all known elements. They nourish the whole body for growth and repair.

It's no wonder that people have told of marvelous things that have happened to them when they have added sunflower seeds to their diet. For instance, it has helped weak eyes, tooth decay, dryness of skin and arthritis, improved fingernails, and helped digestion.
In addition, look at the minerals — calcium, phosphorus and natural florine and vitamin D. This is what people need for strong teeth and bone development. Sunflower seeds are rich in vitamin A, so therefore, also beneficial to the eyes and dry skin.

Sunflower seeds are the seeds that contain the most B-1 and B-3 vitamins. These vitamins are very important when you are depressed. An added mineral in the sunflower seed, magnesium, is important for the muscles and nerves, especially the heart.
Sunflower seeds, like other seeds, are rich in potassium. Potassium balances sodium in the body, an important factor for salt lovers.
The fat in the kernels is unsaturated fat. It's quality is super. Researchers have found that in 100 grams of sunflower seeds there are 30 milligrams of linoleic acid, which helps reduce cholesterol deposits on the artery walls and provides protection against kidney stones and gallbladder stones. The zinc found in sunflower seeds helps in the working of enzymes.

Author Carlson Wade in his book "Miracle Protein" says:
"The quality of sunflower seed meal protein is exceptionally high with a biological value of 64.5 percent. This places sunflower seed protein in the same class as wheat and is even more desirable than soybean or corn protein."
The protein in these gray-looking sunflower seeds is important to the whole being. The seeds should always be eaten raw. They are delicious. Sunflower seeds leave people with that satisfying feeling and prevent the letdown people may experience after having eaten empty calories, overloaded with sugar.

Sunflower seeds also make an excellent snack food. Try mixing sunflower seeds with cottage cheese or yogurt. Add them to fruit salad or green salads. Mix them with anything you bake or just snack on them. If you don't feel like chewing the seeds you can grind the seeds and add them to the food.
We all should eat more seeds. They deserve a special place in our diet.

Church News

'Belief and Action'

The School of Theology at Claremont has launched a weekly radio program "Belief and Action." The feature is presented jointly by the School and Religion in Media, a Los Angeles based agency which distributes to radio stations in the west. Talk show type interviews are planned with faculty members, visiting lecturers and other public figures. Theme of "Belief and Action" is that one's beliefs influence one's behavior and vice versa. Guests will be asked to describe their own value systems in relation to community and global impact. The Claremont radio program will be recorded in studios of the Mudd communications building on the School of Theology campus, under the over-all technical supervision of W. Jack Coogan, associate professor of communications arts. Moderator of the program is T. Willard Hunter, assistant to the president for communications.

Fellowship Brethren

The Rev. Timothy Keane, a member of the Glendora Church of the Brethren and a youth counselor for the city of Glendora, will preach 10:15 a.m. Sunday at the Fellowship Church of the Brethren in La Verne. His subject will be "I Did Not Know Him Myself" based on the scripture John 1:29-34. Betty Hardy, soloist, will sing "It Is No Secret." The 7 p.m. Vespers service will be in the church patio. Barbara Enberg will be guest speaker.

Foothill Baptist

Pastor Morris C. Yocum will bring the sermons Sunday at the Foothill Baptist Church, 1330 W. 15th St., Upland. At the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services his message will be "Something Every Church Needs!" At the 7 p.m. Inspirational Hour, the subject will be "Invitation To A New Life-style," a continued exposition of I John in chapter two, verses 3-11.

Music will include a Call to Worship by Mrs. Victor Harding and Judi Yocum who will also sing at the 7 p.m. service. The Sunday school department will present a musical package at the service. Soloist for the Sunday morning services will be Charles Robinson.

Covina Adventist

Certificates will be awarded to 40 or more students of the Covina Seventh-day Adventist Vacation Bible School 10:45 a.m. Saturday. In a special "commencement" program at 1067 E. Badillo St. Each of the three age groups of valley boys and girls who have completed the Bible school work during the past two weeks will participate in the program. Songs, recitations, Bible memory work, and a display of handicrafts produced by the youngsters will be presented. Children will keep their arts and crafts as well as their completed work books. Covina church Pastor Bob Odell will be speaker for the event. Joe Ruley, Bible school director, will present certificates.

Youngsters receiving certificates range in age from 3 to 14, and come from the communities of Azusa, Covina, Glendora, Hacienda Heights, San Dimas, Upland, Valinda and West Covina. Students, parents and other visitors are invited to attend the study service preceding graduation exercises at 9:30.

SD Community

The Rev. Francis Ellis, pastor emeritus of the San Dimas Community Church, will preach for the absent Rev. Kenneth McCandless Sunday at the church, Third and San Dimas avenues, San Dimas. Ellis served as minister of the church 1947-58. Soloist for the service will be Mrs. Clyde Mackall of Upland.

Dr. Cho Crusade

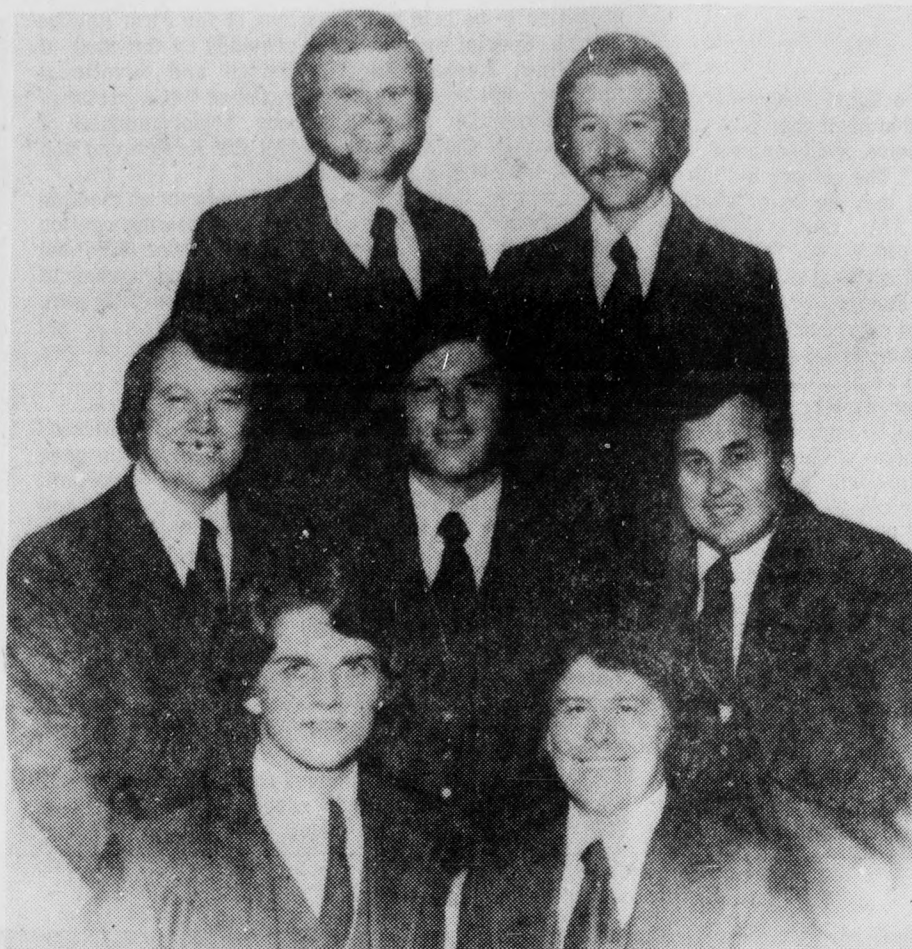

Mrs. Leslie Vriez of Upland has been named bus leader for the Upland and surrounding area residents desiring to attend by chartered bus the Dr. Yonggi Cho Miracle Healing Crusade, Sept. 11, in Los Angeles Shrine Auditorium. Doors will open to the public at 2:30 p.m., according to the Rev. Gene Martin, Corona Del Mar, coordinator for Dr. Cho, founder-pastor of the 40,000-member Full Gospel Central Church, Seoul, Korea. Martin suggested West End residents make early bus reservations with Mrs. Vriez to assure seating. They may call her at (714) 985-1414.

The 41-year-old Cho, world traveler and Bible teacher, was converted from Buddhism and healed of tuberculosis, said Martin, who for 15 years headed a similar ministry for the late Kathryn Kuhlman. The services, emphasizing evangelism and miracle healings, will be in English. Author of many Christian books written in Korean, Japanese, German, English and Scandinavian, Dr. Cho has ranked for the past several years with Pentecostal leaders of the world. Since 1967 he has been a member of the advisory committee for the Pentecostal World Conference, hosting the 10th such gathering in his Seoul church in 1973.

Group for seniors

A new senior citizens group will meet 3 p.m. Sept 12 at the Calvary Baptist Church, Damien and Forestdale avenues, La Verne, to organize activities for the fall. For more information call (714) 593-4672.

GOSPEL CONCERT — The Californians, a gospel singing group who have recorded several albums, will perform 7:30 p.m.

tonight at the San Bernardino County Fair's Gospel Jubilee at the fairgrounds in Victorville.

Nielson & Young to perform at Upland Nazarene Church

Nielson & Young, duo pianists will perform 6 p.m. Sunday at the First Church of the Nazarene, 120 W. Ninth St., Upland.

The young duo - piano team bring to their collaboration individual musical accomplishments.

Stephen Nielson has, in a few years, made an impressive record in the music world. He won the Guy Maier Award in 1967 with the highest rating ever achieved both for that award and for the International Piano Guild Competition.

He has television performances to his credit on the National Education network, as well as in Glasgow, Guadalajara, and Managua. He made his orchestral debut at age 15 with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, and in 1972 represented the United States at the Queen Elizabeth Piano Competition in Brussels. His 1975 European tour included performances in Berlin, Mannheim, and Haarlem.

Ovid Young's duo - piano concertizing with Nielson is but one facet of a many-sided musical career. He maintains a busy concert schedule throughout the United States and other countries as the pianist - conductor - arranger for the prominent singing duo of Robert Hale and Dean Wilder. He has been heard as conductor and/or piano soloist with the symphony orchestras of Denver, Pittsburgh, Nashville, Asron, Lansing and other cities.

His recording activities have taken him to studios and concert halls of London, New York, Chicago, Hollywood, and Nashville. In 1971, he wrote music and conducted the orchestra for the coronation of the queen of the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena.

Fiesta Bonita set at Holy Name of Mary

The annual "Fiesta Bonita" will be celebrated Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the Holy Name of Mary Church grounds, corner of Bonita Avenue and San Dimas Canyon Road in San Dimas.

Festivities will get underway 6 p.m. Friday with official opening ceremonies conducted by Pastor Michael Brooks. Activities will continue 1-11 p.m. Saturday and noon - 11 p.m. Sunday.

Highlights of the three-day event will include a traditional treasure hunt, skateboard exhibition, entertainment by the San Dimas Shooting Stars, Mexican dancers, a Mexican band, carnival rides, food and game booths, and a raffle drawing.

Fiesta-goers can gather clues to determine the location of a palm-sized, gold-colored token which will be hidden somewhere in San Dimas or La Verne Monday. The person who finds the token will be awarded $200 if the token is taken to the church office, 333 N. San Dimas Canyon Road, by midnight, Sept. 2.

Eight clues, two on Friday and three each on Saturday and Sunday, will be posted at the fiesta ticket information booth during fiesta hours. NO purchase is necessary to obtain the clues. Daily clues will not be repeated on the following day. Properly analyzed, each clue should lead treasure hunters closer to the token's location.

Fiesta Chairman Mike Bagan emphasized that the damage to, or trespassing on, private property will not be necessary to find the token. It will be hidden in a location normally accessible to the general public.

In the event the token is not found and redeemed by midnight Sept. 2, a special drawing of fiesta raffle tickets will be held to assure a treasure hunt winner.

Winner of the first prize in the raffle will receive a vacation for two or $1,000 cash. Winner can choose either a seven-day cruise to Mexico, plus $300 spending money; a seven-day cruise to the Caribbean plus $300 spending money; or an eight-day three-island tour of Hawaii plus $500 spending money.

Other prizes include $500 "back-to-school" money, side of USDA choice beef, His/Hers Schwinn 10-speed bicycles, two season tickets to 1977 Los Angeles Rams games, and a 40-channel CB radio.

Skateboard exhibitions by C&D Skateboard Team from Montclair are scheduled 1:30 - 2:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Pro-Am competitors and world record holders will be featured in free style, stick jumps, platform jumps and other unusual displays of skateboarding. Free skateboard-related prizes will be awarded to youngsters in attendance. Entry blanks for the prizes are available at many local businesses and at the fiesta ticket booth.

Special 25-cent tickets for carnival rides will be available 2:30 - 3:30 Saturday and Sunday for children up to 14 years old.

Performance by the San Dimas Shooting Stars Drill Team will be staged 6-6:45 p.m. Saturday, while the Folklorico de Azatlan Dancers will perform 8:15 - 9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and the Los Laraos Latin Band will provide entertainment 6-7 p.m. Sunday.

Bagan is assisted by Lynn Nicholson, finance; Joanne Rody, advertising; Paul Laymen and Ira Knostman, food; Tom Winters and Jim Mattson, games; Don Ranney and Al Ramirez, tickets.

Chairpersons are assisted by more than 600 Holy Name of parishioners working to make Fiesta Bonita "one of the largest and most fun-filled weekends in the San Gabriel/Pomona Valley area," Bagan said.

Grant given

Rolf P. Knierim, professor of Old Testament at the School of Theology at Claremont, has received a $2,500 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The award supports his direction of a major article, "The Correlation Between the Legal Language in The Old Testament and Israel's Legal Institutions."

Kid's Crusade

The Community Foursquare Church of Upland will sponsor a "Kid's Crusade" 9:30 a.m. Sunday and 7-8:30 p.m. Aug. 29-Sept. 1 at the church, 205 S. Campus Ave. The "krusade" will feature Heidi the Hippo, who is as tall as an adult; Loose Tail Owl, who helps teach Bible stories, awards, puppets, a Penny March, Bible quizzes, and music. The public is invited.

Christ Lutheran

New classes for all age groups are being formed to begin the fall series starting Sept. 11 at Christ Lutheran Church, 5500 Francis Ave., Chino.

For the 8:15 and 10:45 a.m. services Sunday, the sermon by Dr. Aaron L. Plueger will treat the two epistles of Saint Peter, using the theme "Preach What You Practice." Yvonne Pusztai will sing at both services. Refreshments, nursery, and children's Bible classes will be offered.

The Adult Bible Forum will discuss current matters pertaining to spiritual growth. The Sunday Parish School will meet at 9:30 a.m.

Christian Science

This week's Christian Science Bible Lesson-Sermon theme from Isaiah is, "The Lord himself shall give you a sign: Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." The subject is "Christ Jesus" and the Lesson-Sermon may be heard Monday through Friday on XEMO (860 AM); read in the Christian Science Reading Room, 1030 W. 4th St., Monday through Saturday; and heard at all Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world Sunday.

The Ontario Sunday school and church services will be at 10 a.m. at 1429 N. Euclid Ave.; Claremont Sunday school and church services will be at 10 a.m. at 701 W. Harrison Ave.; and Pomona Sunday school and church services at 11 a.m. at 1665 N. San Antonio. A Wednesday 8 p.m. services is where testimonies of Christian Science healing may be heard. Child care will be provided for small children at all church services. All are welcome to attend the church services and use the reading room.

Ontario Baptist

The Rev. Victor R. Gordon, associate minister, will preach 10 a.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Ontario. His theme will be "You're Family - Be Family." Special music will be provided by Lee Culp and by Marjorie Hamilton at the organ. There will be a dedication of children and parents.

The 6:30 p.m. service will be joint service of worship between First Baptist Church and the Plum Avenue congregation to be held in the narthex of the First Baptist Church. Special music will be provided by the choir of the Plum Avenue Baptist Church and devotional moments will be led by the Rev. Oscar Vega, pastor of that church. Dr. Ralph Lightbody, senior minister of First Baptist Church, will conduct the service and will lead in the closing meditation.

At 7:30 p.m. there will be a quarterly business meeting of the church will be held. Members of the congregation have been invited. The Department of Mission will meet 7 p.m. Monday. Dr. Lightbody will continue the study of Jeremiah at the regular midweek service 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 31.

Open house

The preschool of Temple Shalom, 1912 W. Merced (near Orange), West Covina, announced that an open house will be held 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. and 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. Sept. 7. This will be an opportunity to meet the staff and to register for the fall session which will begin Sept. 12. June Kaufman, school director, said children will be involved in a program designed to encourage educational, social, emotional and physical development. The philosophy of the school is that learning is self-rewarding, joyful and non-competitive. Learning experiences will include such subjects as language arts, science, nature study, drama play, music and rhythm, mathematical concepts, and Jewish heritage and customs.

The non-denominational school is open to all children 2 - 5 years of age who may be enrolled for two, three or five days, with classes being held 9 a.m. - noon.

DUO-PIANISTS — The young, duo-piano team of Stephen Nielson and Ovid Young will perform 6 p.m. Sunday at the First Church of the Nazarene, 120 W. Ninth St., Upland. The public is invited. For information call the church office, (714) 982-1364.

Bristlecones: old, beautiful

An awe-inspiring type of beauty coupled with rugged determination and strength characterize the oldest living things on earth — the bristlecone pines.

It boggles the imagination to try to conceive of the fact that a tree living today was alive three thousand years before Christ came to earth and was already several hundred years old when the Roman Empire ruled the world. Noted biologist-ecologist Adolph Murie described a day among the bristlecones as "an unforgettable experience. Their weird hobgoblin shapes with arms reaching and turning at all angles, like illustrations in the Wizard of Oz, give one a feeling of being in a strange world. The trees are fantastic, each one a character to meet. And then one keeps reverting to the thought that they are the oldest living things, that some of them antedate history and lived on through one era after another."

Adversity seems to be the key to the bristlecones' tremendous longevity. The oldest trees survive on the steep, rocky cliffs where they receive less than ten inches of rainfall. Several are more than 4,500 years old.

The bristlecone pines are amazingly accessible by car. The Edmund Schulman Grove of bristlecone pines is located on a paved road just a few miles off of Route 168. The drive offers a magnificent view of the Owens Valley and the High Sierra crest.

For further information contact the Bishop Chamber of Commerce, 690 North Main St., Bishop, 93514 872-4731. The area is managed by the Forest Service, White Mountain Ranger District, 798 North Main, Bishop, 93514, 873-4207, which may be contacted for information.

PIUTE LAKE — A U.S. Forest Service ranger surveys the scene in the Piute Lake area of the Inyo National Forest. Bristlecone pine trees in the area offer visitors an unforgettable site of natural beauty.

A Woman Ought To Know

Wants her own pension

Dear Anita,
I am amazed that I am considered a "dependent" upon my husband by the Social Security system. I helped him through college with paid employment, raised three super people, and ran our household. I feel I contributed sufficiently to society to earn my own Social Security pension. What's your opinion?
R.S., Roseville

Dear R.S.,
You certainly worked hard enough to earn a pension. It's too bad society will not reward homemakers with money - if that's what it takes - for doing the difficult nurturing job of bringing up children and helping the parent employed outside the home. The financial impact on women, especially widows, can be devastating, if they rely upon Social Security benefits alone. Widows are entitled to only 82.5 per cent of their husbands' benefits, yet husbands receive 100 per cent if they outlive their wives. Are a woman's needs really 17.5 per cent less than a man's?

Here's some information that should shed light on the monetary worth of a homemaker. A financial services firm, GSI Inc., a subsidiary of Esmark Inc. studied tasks of the 28 million nonsalaried wives and mothers in the nation, concluding they performed about $340 billion in services each year - as housekeeper, decorator, cleaning woman, cook, dietitian, nurse, gardener, chauffeur, bookkeeper, shopper, seamstress and psychologist, among others. Annual earnings would have averaged $12,140, two years ago. Today, inflation would bring your earnings to approximately $14,568.

You may not get the paycheck. But you certainly are entitled to Social Security benefits as a retiree when you can no longer easily enter the work force.

Anita Miller

Dear Anita,

I have a job outside my home, three children, and a problem. I'm fed up with the disapproval of people who think I'm doing something wrong by working. These people hardly know me, and don't know my children at all; why do they think they can judge me?

B. J. Salinas

Dear B.J.,

Social disapproval of working mothers is still very much a fact of life, as your experience, and your irritation have taught you. A recent national survey showed what you already know: people think mothers should be at home "unless they need the money."

Statistics show conclusively that the great majority of women in the work force, whether they are mothers or not, have jobs because they need the money. Yet how many of us want to keep explaining to everyone we meet that we're working because of extreme necessity. It's almost easier to cope with disapproval, however unjustified.

The gap between attitudes and reality is very wide on this issue. Half of all mothers of children under 18 are in the work force. More than a third of all mothers of children under 6 are working outside the home, at full-time jobs. With very few exceptions, these women are doing several jobs: employee, mother, and homemaker. They deserve respect, not uninformed criticism.

Anita Miller

Dear Anita,

I'm sure my boss has no idea what I do with my lunch hour - but many women do it. I drive to kindergarten, pick up my daughter, lunch together and drive miles to a child care center. Is anything being done to make more quality day care or after-school facilities available to working mothers?

J.K., Buena Vista

Dear J.K.,

I'm afraid not nearly enough is being done. Right now, 45 per cent of all women with children under 18 work. That means approximately 27 million American children have working mothers. And more are entering the work force.

As a nation, we are beginning to realize the importance of providing more and better day care facilities. We have found that such care helps stabilize working families and will benefit future generations.

Some innovations are being tried. Some school districts provide after-school programs. Local mothers' groups have hired teachers, and student teachers to provide after-school programs. New York City has one all-day, all-year school, open 8 a.m. - 6 p.m., serving children 2½ - 6 years old.

After-school facilities would certainly help women like you. A first step might be to find out how many women in your community need it. And let us know.

Anita Miller

Share energy in summer 'rush hours'

Summertime is the period when all of us should think about sharing energy with our neighbors. This is because summer is when the "rush hours," or peak demand periods for electricity, are the greatest and most frequent.

Peak demand periods occur when large numbers of electric customers increase their use of electricity at the same time. This happens particularly during hot summer days when air conditioners are being used extensively, in addition to everything else that is consuming electricity.

Southern California electric utilities believe they have sufficient capacity this year to provide the electric power demands of local residents and businesses. However, they will continue to share the output of our oil-burning and nuclear-fueled plants with Northern California where the drought has hit particularly hard and drastically reduced the amount of energy normally produced by hydroelectric facilities.

How can you help? Reduce the number of electric appliances you have operating during the afternoon hours between noon and 6 p.m. This is where the electric rush hours occur. If you must have the air conditioning on, turn off some other high-energy-use appliances to make up for it. Activities such as clothes washing and dishwashing can be rescheduled to morning and evening hours to take the load off the afternoon period. Industry and commerce also have been requested to help out in this effort.

If people can spread their use of electricity energy throughout the day to avoid peak periods, it can help to prevent power shortages and postpone construction of expensive new generating plants. In this way, you can help "share energy with others."

If you have any questions about peak demand and reducing energy usage, write to Conservation Corner, Southern California Edison Company, P.O. Box 800, Rosemead, CA 91770.

- On a camping trip a sharp axe or hatchet is safer than a dull one.
☐ True ☐ False

- Driving a station wagon, hatch-back or fast-back car with the rear window open can be dangerous.
☐ True ☐ False

ANSWERS

1. TRUE. A dull edge will bounce and deflect danger. While a sharp blade sticks where it strikes. 2. TRUE. Exhaust fumes tend to be drawn into an open rear window of a moving vehicle. Rapid carbon monoxide poisoning may then occur. Provided as a public safety service by Underwriters Laboratories.

Legislation for veterans

By State Assemblyman Terry Goggin

There are 3.5 million veterans residing in California. The largest number, 900,000, served in the military during the Vietnam era. The smallest number, about 100, rejoined at the victory of San Juan Hill. They served in the Spanish-American War of 1898.

Not all of California's veterans have in their memories a tongue-lashing from the topkick for showing up at morning inspection with a five o'clock shadow. About 70,000 of our neighbors with prior military duty are women.

Our long-standing obligation to those persons who have surrendered periods of their lives in the defense of this state and nation cannot be forgotten. There are several avenues being explored in Sacramento that can make our commitment to veterans more meaningful in light of today's reality.

Housing is one example. Veterans and their families need homes and the self-supporting Cal Vet mortgage loan program has not been keeping pace with the rising cost of California residences.

The state Assembly recently passed two measures by Assemblyman Jack R. Fenton (D-59). One will raise the maximum Cal Vet loan from the present $35,000 to an annually adjusted "statewide median" level, currently estimated $52,297. The second measure is the Veterans Bond Act of 1978 and submits to the voters a $500 million general bond issue.

Related legislation, introduced by Assemblyman Richard Lehman (D-31), is of interest to veterans who want to become a part of California agriculture, our No. 1 industry. Lehman would increase from $80,000 to $120,000 the maximum loan the state Department of Veterans Affairs can give a veteran to purchase a farm. The bill also reduces the downpayment from 10 percent to five percent.

The well-being of residents of the California

State Veterans Home in Yountville motivated legislation by Assemblyman Mike Gage (D-8). He proposes that the aged and disabled veterans at this facility be permitted to have their spouses live with them. Gage points out there are empty beds at Yountville. Residents pay their own room and board, and spouses would do the same under his bill.

A measure by Assemblyman Leroy Greene (D-6) would include veterans organizations among the non-profit groups eligible to engage in bingo authorized by the voters last year.

More jobs is the goal of legislation by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett (R-20). His legislation provides for the Department of Justice to establish centers to train severely disabled veterans in emergency telecommunications skills and techniques.

The people who run the veterans programs in California and in Washington, D.C., have been making news themselves. Governor Jerry Brown's appointee as director of the State Department of Veterans Affairs is Virginia Mae Days, the first woman ever to hold the job. President Jimmy Carter's choice as head of the Veterans Administration, Max Cleland, lost both legs and an arm in Vietnam.

The Veterans Employment Service of the U.S. Department of Labor has announced a nationwide outreach and public information program to decrease the high employment among veterans, which is running at almost 20 percent here in California. A multi-media campaign will stress the importance of hiring both vets and disabled veterans. I certainly hope the employers of my district will be supportive of this worthy effort.

(Goggin, a Democrat, represents the 66th Assembly District, which includes Cucamonga and Alta Loma.)

UNICEF ALBUM — Children from the New York City Opera Children's Chorus sing for a new album, "Sing Children Sing," for the United Nations Children Fund (UNICEF). The album contains children's songs of the United States arranged and conducted by Robert Decormier. "Sing Children Sing" is part of the 1977 UNICEF Christmas catalog being mailed this month to some two million contributors, patrons and friends of the organization.

Transportation Action Committee

Freeway completion urged

"Bureaucratic mismanagement, indecisiveness and stalling on the part of the California Department of Transportation (CALTRANS) in completing 'missing links' in the state's freeway system is costing out economy billions of dollars in capital expenditures and Southern California construction workers thousands of jobs."

In making this statement, Virgil D. Waters, chairman of the Southern California Transportation Action Committee (SCTAC), urged Governor Jerry Brown to "light a fire" under CALTRANS and its director, Adriana Gianturco.

Waters noted that in 1959, the state Legislature approved the Master California Freeway Network plan which designated critical freeway routes to be constructed to ensure a safe, efficient and rapid transportation system for motor vehicles.

"Now, nearly 20 years later," Waters emphasized, "there are all too many 'missing links' which not only have not been completed or begun — but, in many cases, are not yet scheduled."

Waters pointed to three critical freeways in Southern California which epitomize the "gross foot-dragging" being exhibited by CALTRANS and Ms. Gianturco.

They are: Century Freeway (Interstate 105) — A 17-mile, eight-lane freeway from El Segundo to Norwalk. Waters noted that this freeway is considered "vital" to safe and smooth transportation around the Los Angeles International Airport.

— Long Beach Freeway (Route 7) — A six-mile stretch of freeway which would connect the Long Beach Freeway, in Alhambra to the Foothill Freeway in Pasadena. Completion of this "link," Waters said, is important because a connection is desperately needed between the harbor area and the agricultural production areas north of Los Angeles.

— Foothill Freeway (Route 30) — 36 miles of four and six-lane freeway extending from San Dimas to San Bernardino. As a major east-west artery through Southern California, this freeway would lift the heavy and dangerous traffic burden on Route 66 and Interstate 1-10, Waters said.

As an indication of the magnitude of money and jobs being lost to California because of CALTRANS inaction, Waters reported that the completion of three freeways would represent a total of $868.3 million in capital investment and a potential for 35,600 jobs.

Referring to statistics made public by CALTRANS for each freeway, he cited these figures: Century Freeway, $670 million and 27,470 jobs; Long Beach Freeway, $98.3 million and 4,030 jobs; and Foothill Freeway, $100 million and 4,100 jobs.

Waters noted that the job estimate figures were computed by Associated General Contractors of California based on a set number of jobs relating to each $1 million of construction costs. The estimate is 17 jobs per $1 million for on-site employment and an equivalent 24 jobs for off-site work.

"California's economy and unemployment rate are nothing to brag about," Waters said, adding, "Neither is the conscientiousness or efficiency of a state department which exercises control over the welfare of our state's transportation system."

Porno bill ok'd by committee

State Assemblyman Bill McVittie's (D-65) legislation imposing tough criminal penalties on child pornographers was approved Aug. 12 by the Assembly Committee on Criminal Justice.

McVittie authored the first attack on smut merchants who use juveniles as subjects for commercial exploitation in X-rated films and obscene publications. His March 1

Rousselot to speak

Representative John H. Rousselot (R-26) will address the membership of the Pomona - East San Gabriel Valley Young Republicans at their regular monthly meeting, 7:30 p.m. tonight at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of the San Gabriel Valley, 2111 Bonita Ave., La Verne.

Rousselot is a member of the House Committee on Banking, Finance, and Urban Affairs, ranking minority member of the Subcommittee on Bank Supervision and Insurance; and the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, ranking minority member of the Subcommittee on Census and Statistics.

For more information call (714) 621-2198.

introduction of Assembly Bill 707 triggered a chain reaction in the state legislature.

"I'm very happy my legislation has passed its first policy committee test. But frankly I'm not too concerned about whose name appears on the final version I'm convinced will reach the governor's desk," he said.

"This is a shocking problem of immense proportions and it transcends politics or pride of authorship. I want to see the toughest law possible — mine or somebody else's — that states in no uncertain terms that Californians will not tolerate a pornography industry that is making huge profits by degrading and shattering the lives of young people," he added.

McVittie's legislation would make it a felony to employ any person under 18 years old to engage in specified sexual activities for any commercial purposes.

McVittie authored the legislation following a disclosure that as many as 600,000 youths nationwide are being used in the pornography trade.

The lawmaker described the phenomenon as "a serious crime that is repulsive to the overwhelming majority of our population."
